

Pause | Play

Situated in front of the Mount Baker link station, an open plaza filled with movement, Pause | Play provides a moment of pause – a stopping place for commuters who pass through the neighborhood. It is also a setting that begin a conversation, to engage and connect people to the community from within and beyond.

Intersections, Izabela Boloz

Super-bench prototype, Public Workshop

With a simple construction process and giving a lighter touch, wood would be the desired material for the proposed design. The estimated cost for the required parts, including lumber, plywood panels and metal parts is about $2,800.